21/4/08

South Australian Rover Scouts camped here while hiking the Hedges from Mayo Hut to Parachilna Gorge (7 days / 100+ km.)

Cameron Roy, Anton Stekedee, Natalie Anderson, Jessalight and Kara Morrissey. Left our water here last week so expected the empty tank could be a bit of a bummer for those who aren't so prepared. In reference to the previous entry we burnt all the rubbish we could find - there was quite a bit.

With regard to water further South, Wilpena is obviously good, Red Range has a full tank and Mayo Hut has 2/3. There's also a tank on the loo at Mayo Hut - I thought the tap didn't work but Anton thought the tank was empty.

Enjoyed this hut - not quite as impressive as Mayo but that was amazing! ~~Some~~ Very nice views to the south, around the peaks especially. If you are able I would thoroughly recommend camping a night at Bird's Gap. Pitch the tents and take your stove and a cup-a-soup and walk 200m south, sit on the edge of the world and watch the sunset. Awesome views of Elder Range etc.

Dissappointing that there isn't any history about this but available. I would guess an old mustering/crutching hut (from before you could drive everywhere so easily) but clearly it has been done up as the structure is boxed and sh. chimney connected.

This is such a lovely little hut! Flinders Ranges is so nice, pristine and quiet.

Thank you
